CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY RAMBLING CLUB Michaelmas Term 1985

I just roam wherever I will; I love the world so why sit still? And I want nothing between me and the ground,

I just want to wander, and walk around.

(from 'When I'm Walking' (Jonathan Richman))

We are an informal group who ramble every weekend during term on alternate Saturdays (afternoons only) and Sundays, and we invite you to join us whenever you feel like fresh air, exercise and a change of environment. There is no subscription - everyone pays their own bus and train fares. It is advisable to wear boots or strong shoes and to bring waterproofs, and a packed lunch for all-day rambles. For further information contact Neal Alexander (Emma) or Alice Robson (Newnham), or come along to coffee evening ches Alice (S208 Newnham) on Sundays at 8.30 pm.

(By the way, when leaving Cambridge by train, we generally meet up before going on to the platform)
